Forest Glade

Look forward to the joy of a bright and chilly, snowy winter's day!

When huge, white flakes float from the sky, the snow-covered ground muffles the sound of your footsteps on long winter walks through the woods.

Cuddly, long-haired, melusine fur felt protects and warms like a crackling log fire on a frosty night. Nicki Marquardt points winter ramblers' footsteps towards pure design and the ultimate protection against the bitter cold.

With the eye-catching shapes of men's hats in soft shades of grey and brown, as well as contemporary interpretations of the 1920s, it's not just a new hat you have – but a whole new feeling too! Glowing red and classical blue, worn as a pillbox or cloche, let ladies shine serenely at home too, at cocktails and dinner parties.

This season, knitwear is being celebrated in sensitively combined pastel shades and in classical red, blue and black, awakening the joy of lots of icy, white winter days. Delicate, hand-knitted patterns appear as branches covered with thin layers of powdery snow. Fur pompoms crown these hats made of exquisite Italian baby alpaca wool like ice crystals.

The clear design and complex manufacturing are relected in our award-winning foldable hat collection: with new models this season as well!

Like all our foldable hats, our matelot headwear can be folded in on itself – and opened or folded up again with the greatest of ease – to accompany you all through the winter months wherever your travels take you.
